

Mentor's Research Notes

Description: A messy bundle of papers, sketches, and cryptic annotations left by a trusted mentor.

Usage: Studying the notes with a successful Investigation or Lore check can reveal clues about puzzles, creature weaknesses, historical events, or the location of items. The information is fragmented and may contain inaccuracies.

Vance's Research Papers

Description: Classified research papers from a disappeared mentor, focusing on advanced Zenith Wave theory.

Usage: Studying the papers with a successful Investigation or Physics check can reveal flaws in Zenith Wave tech, hidden functionalities, or clues to your mentor's disappearance.

Father's Research Notes

Description: A collection of notes from a vanished family member, detailing strange celestial events and ancient technology.

Usage: Studying the notes with a successful Investigation or Lore check can reveal information about celestial alignments, the location of specific artifacts, or the nature of the event that caused the disappearance.

Disgraced Research Journal

Description: Your own journal, filled with controversial theories and research that led to your academic ruin.

Usage: Reviewing your journal can help you recall a specific, obscure fact, granting a bonus to a Lore or History check. It may also trigger a Sanity check as you relive past failures.

Atlantian Stun Grenade

Description: Ancient Atlantian technology designed for non-lethal crowd control.

Usage: Single use. Detonates in a burst of disorienting energy. Targets in the area must pass a Sanity check or suffer short-term memory loss and be stunned for 1-2 rounds.

Atlantian Battery

Description: A power source for ancient Atlantian devices.

Usage: Has 1d6 charges remaining when found. Each charge can activate an Atlantian device. A successful Technology or Lore check might allow a character to estimate remaining charges.

Atlantian Guiding Crystal

Description: A small crystal that resonates with Atlantian energy flows.

Usage: Can be held against a solid barrier to get a brief, fuzzy psychic impression of what is immediately on the other side. Consumes 1 charge from an Atlantian Battery per use.

Eagle Feather of Discernment

Description: A dark feather imbued with subtle energy, often associated with the Eagle Faction.

Usage: Grants advantage on a single check related to seeing through illusions, detecting lies, or resisting gaslighting attempts. Crumbles to dust after use.

Voice Mimicry Device

Description: A small electronic device that can record and play back short audio snippets, or distort existing sounds.

Usage: Requires batteries. Can be used to create distractions, mimic voices (with a successful Deception check), or amplify small noises.

Eagle Faction Communicator

Description: A standard communication device used by Eagle Faction personnel.

Usage: Requires batteries. Can intercept unencrypted Eagle Faction communications. With a successful Technology check, players might be able to send spoofed messages or triangulate enemy positions.

Ancient Map Fragment

Description: A brittle piece of papyrus or aged vellum with a section of a map.

Usage: Can be pieced together with other fragments or studied with a successful Lore or Investigation check to reveal hidden passages or locations of interest.

Cipher Wheel

Description: A small, intricate disc or set of rings with symbols.

Usage: Requires a successful Lore or Investigation check to understand its use. Can be used to decode encrypted messages found in ancient texts.

Blessed Scarab

Description: A small, stone scarab carving, cool to the touch.

Usage: Once per session, the holder can invoke its blessing to gain advantage on a single saving throw against a supernatural effect or a Sanity check.

Strange Idol

Description: A small, unsettling carving of unknown origin.

Usage: Holding or studying the idol may cause minor Sanity loss. It might be a key to an ancient puzzle, a focus for certain rituals, or simply a disturbing curiosity.

Miniature EMP Device

Description: A compact electronic device emitting a focused electromagnetic pulse.

Usage: Single use. Can disable electronic devices (security cameras, simple bots, electronic locks) in a small radius for 1d4 rounds. Does not affect ancient Atlantian technology.

Ancient Compass

Description: A compass that doesn't point north, but towards a significant source of ancient energy or a hidden location.

Usage: Requires a successful Lore or Investigation check to interpret. Its needle might react to nearby Atlantian technology or points of power.

Whispering Jar

Description: A ceramic jar with a tightly fitted lid, covered in faded symbols.

Usage: When the lid is opened, it faintly replays sounds that occurred in its vicinity in the past, up to a few minutes.

Toth's Whispering Reeds

Description: Ancient reeds that, when played, can soothe or confuse certain creatures or mechanisms.

Usage: Can be used to create a calming or disorienting effect on certain creatures or mechanisms. Useful for stealth or distraction.

Glowing Scroll

Description: A scroll that emits a soft light, covered in shifting, cryptic text.

Usage: Once per session, you can study the scroll to ask the GM a single, specific question about an ancient location, artifact, or entity. The answer will be a short, cryptic clue.

Crystal Pendant

Description: A crystal that hums faintly and glows with a soft light in the presence of strong supernatural or technological energy.

Usage: Can be used to dowse for active artifacts or hidden power sources. The intensity of the glow indicates proximity.

Mystic Monocle

Description: A strange monocle with a lens made of polished obsidian.

Usage: When looking through the monocle, you can see faint magical glyphs, residues, or structural weaknesses invisible to the naked eye. Requires concentration.

Glowing Map

Description: A map that appears blank until brought near a ley line or place of power.

Usage: When activated by proximity to a powerful location, it reveals glowing pathways, hidden chambers, or the flow of energy in the area.

Quartz Crystal

Description: A large, unusually clear quartz crystal, perfectly cut.

Usage: Can be used as a focus for meditation or rituals. Once per session, you can use it to grant yourself or an ally advantage on a single Sanity check.

LED Bodysuit

Description: A suit with programmable LEDs, controlled by a small wrist device.

Usage: Can be used to create dazzling light displays for distraction (disadvantage to onlookers), or mimic the light patterns of certain technological devices to bypass simple sensors (requires a Technology check).