

A Fragment from Thoth (2)

The path is seen not only by foot, but by the mind's eye taking root.
Look inward, beyond the seen, to where the ancient truths convene.
A gate appears when gates are none, a journey started, though begun.
Trust visions fleeting, symbols deep, the keys the waking world asleep.